

Dear Sir/Madam,

It is a fundamental right in this country that we, the people, not the congress or any body formed or forged by congress, have the right to choose what we watch and what we listen to. I assure you, as a 4 unit subscriber to XM Radio, any threat that your body perceives to local radio is unfounded but even if I chose to get my local content from XM, it would still be my choice. Don't we have more serious and pressing issues facing this country today than for your body to inject itself into a matter so fundamentally grounded in the principles that our fighting men and women are dying for. Freedom in every form, speech, religion and most of all choice. These democratic values are at the core of what President Bush is trying to instill in Iraq. What a tragedy it would be for these same values to be trampled at home in the name of protectionism and big business. Leave my XM alone or the very silent majority may someday become a very vocal one. Respectfully, Asher Ansel K!
